School and parents call for 20mph limit

JOSH THOMAS

A CAMPAIGN to slow traffic down on a fast stretch of road outside a school is gathering momentum.

Parents of children at Coupals Primary Academy in Chalkstone Way have joined with staff at the school in calling for a 20mph speed limit to be set up in the area.

The road, currently limited at 30mph, is a busy thoroughfare in the town and there are concerns for the safety of children walking to and from school.

Mum Ruth Luckey, 34, lives nearby. She has two children, aged 10 and 7 years old, who both attend the school. She became concerned with the speed of the traffic in the area and approached the school to see what could be done.

She said: "I noticed around town that other schools all had signs and things outside stating there was a school there.

"I thought the same needed to be done here and cars needed to be aware and slow down.

"I asked a few parents and people down to 20mph.

David Maguire, Head of School, said he supported the calls and thought the reduced speed limit would improve safety.

"I think it is a really good idea," said Mr Maguire. "The fact the parents have raised it is really positive. That road can be very fast. It's busy and it's also a major bus route. Children come from all over and a lot of them walk.

"About 24 years ago, there was an accident in Millfields Way and a child was hit. They put in speed bumps on the road there after that.

"Despite that, people still try to drive quickly along this road. It's dangerous, particularly with chil-dren there. It's an added element of risk. Anything that makes that road a little bit safer would be a real positive.'

Councillor Tony Brown represents Haverhill at Suffolk County Council. He said: "Being the local councillor, I would fully support that idea. It would come before Suffolk County Council and it would need to fulfil certain criteria they would have.

"There would need to be community support for this to go further. It needs backing from parents.

'They [the council] would probably measure the speed of the traffic and look at congestion issues in

I knew. It is such a busy road and. though there is a zebra crossing, people still drive very fast. It can also be quite busy.

"I think drivers should be more aware of the busy times of day bean be used in conjunction with any other current off tween 8.30am and 9.30am and 3pm and 3.30pm. There are children around. They need to take care."

The school then contacted Suffolk County Council to investigate the feasibility of bringing the limit APPEAL: Three Counties Transport have launched a recruitment drive to find more people to help elderly and disabled people get around Haverhill.

'We need more driving volunteers'

A COMMUNITY transport organisation is recruiting new volunteers.

Three Counties Transport, based in Haverhill's Lower Downs Slade, currently has 12 volunteers. They help Haverhill residents with reduced mobility get around by driving them in a car for the cost of the petrol, or taking them on the £3 Dial-A-Ride bus.

The organisation has experienced budget cuts and is recruiting volunteers to make sure they can continue providing the service.

They are also encouraging people who might be able to make use of their services to get in touch.

Villagers push forward with bid to buy pub

JOSH THOMAS©JoshThomasCN

A LOCAL pub has taken the first step along the road to belonging to the community after villagers threw their support behind it.

The Cock is the only pub in Thurlow.
Today – Thursday – is the deadline by which the villagers had to register their interest in making the pub a community-owned venue.

In May, the pub was listed as a community asset. Community ownership would protect the pub from being converted into shops or housing.
About 200 questionnaires were circulated and meetings were held to gauge the public's interest in owning the pub.

Villagers came out in force to show their support and the planning department of St Edmundsbury Borough Council has now been informed of the villagers' in-"St Edmundsbury's planning department has been advised that the village and community wishes to take on the pub. The asset will not be disposed of."

Mrs Hawkins said it was important for a small community like Thurlow to keep its pub.

"It would be such a shame if it did close down," she said. "In my opinion, it is a base for the community and, in the past, has been used by all sorts of people, not just drinkers, but peo-ple going there for food or to meet friends."

Mrs Hawkins said the pub could become more of a hub, incorporating a small shop, library, or a post-office to bolster its revenue and improve services in the vil-

"We lost the shop a couple of years ago," she said. "You've also got to go a fair way to the next post office. It is inconvenient. People keep putting forward the idea of having a multi use asset there.'

The villagers now have until February 27 to put to-gether a formal bid for community ownership of the Cock and to present it to the current owner.

New memorial clock is unveiled in town centre

HANNAH MIRSKY @HannahMirskyCN

A NEW town clock was unveiled in Haverhill last Friday

The design, which features three angels pointing in different directions to represent the three counties the town sits between, was the idea of students at Haverhill's Samuel Ward Academy.

The idea to create a new town clock came initially from Cllr Gordon Cox, who approached the town council with the idea in September 2013.

Cllr Cox passed away last vear, before he could see the project completed, and the clock is now being dedicated as a memorial to him.

Cllr Cox's daughter Sarah Nelson said on Friday: "The clock looks beautiful. My dad worked very hard with the design of clock.

'Originally the angels on the top had their arms down but my dad wasn't happy with that. He wanted the arms up towards the sky now that's quite ironic as he has passed away and today is the first anniversary of his

"He would be delighted with the clock. My family and I feel very honoured to have the clock in memory of him.

Mayor of Haverhill Cllr Betty McLatchy made an official dedication to Cllr Cox at the unveiling ceremony.

She said: "It was Gordon's idea for a clock and against opposition for a while he stuck to his guns. He was so pleased when the design went to Samuel Ward Acad-

"Ås far as I am concerned, Britain has always had the best engineers in the country and with the design and engineering that has gone into this clock shows that the students at Samuel Ward Academy are following in their footsteps.

The ceremony also involved songs from Samuel Ward Academy's choir on the theme of time, as well

Family history display

A FAMILY history group is holding an exhibition of the genealogy work done by its members - who are as young as

The Haverhill Family History Group has organised the display to celebrate its 25th year as part of the Suffolk Family History Group.

The exhibition will run from October 6 to 30 in the bistro area of the Haverhill Arts Centre as speeches from Mayor of St Edmundsbury Patrick Chung and Cllr Cox's son Bradley Cox.

As well as a memorial to Cllr Cox, the clock commemorates the Olympic torch passing through the town in July 2012 and the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

The ring of angels at the top of the design resembles a crown and the soaring support structure echoes the design of the Olympic torch.

Town clerk Ĉolin Poole said: "We have had lots of very positive comments about it. It does look great and hopefully it will fulfill its practical purpose as well.

"It will be a great reminder of the day the Olympic torch came through the town.

The design was developed by Samuel Ward students with art teacher Neil Wil-liams and structural engi-

A series of Sunday work-shops were held at the school so that members of the public could get involved in the creative process as well.

Students at the school also chose the name "The Victory Clock" to represent the pride they have in the town.

The clock faces were designed by Samuel Ward's head of photography David Harwood, with designer Russ Bennett. The design resembles dandelion clocks to respresent the theme of time.

The clock was built by Haverhill-based company Metcraft engineering, who did the work free of charge.

It has been erected in Jubilee Walk, where the town's previous town clock, dedicated to former town clerk William Blake, once stood.

200-year-old cottage is saved from demolition

HANNAH MIRSKY J@HannahMirskyCN

A 200-year-old cottage has been saved from possible demolition.

Flint Cottage in Haverhill's Bumpstead Road looked in danger of being demolished if a planning application to build seven homes on the site where it stands had been approved.

But at a meeting of St Edmunds-bury Borough Council's planning committee last Thursday, councillors chose to unanimously reject the application.

They said squeezing seven homes onto the site would be over-development, and they wanted to protect the wildlife corridor formed by the gardens in Bumpstead Road.

Cllr Julia Wakelam said: "Cramming seven dwellings into that space is just absurd.

"Shoving an overcrowded little modern development in there isn't going to create any sense of place or sense of community.

Other concerns raised included the possibility of flooding on the new development and road safety

Cllr David Roach said: "There's no way that any child could go to any school in Haverhill from there without walking in the road."

Cllr John Burns said that a similar application, which had been withdrawn in 2014, had received an objection from the Highways Agency.

One of the greatest objections was the fact that if outline planning permission was granted, the 200-year-old cottage could end up demolished.

Cllr Tony Brown said: "Please don't let another part of our town's heritage go. We have seen the wrecking ball too many times over the last 50 years."

These objections were echoed by representations from Bump-stead road resident Bill Taylor and Haverhill town councillor Pat Han-

Mr Taylor said: "I do not believe that anyone in this room can find any thread of moral or ethical justification to permit the destruction of a unique 200-year-old cottage."

The officer's report on the application stressed that permission was sought for the principle of building on the site, not a specific plan. This meant that the potential demolition of the cottage, and issues with accessing the road, could not be a reason for refusing the application.

Cllr Wakelam said: "We are in a sort of Alice in Wonderland world where we aren't allowed to consider access but we are asked to consider the application."

But the council still voted against the proposal, a move that local residents had been campaigning for since the application was submitted last year.

After the meeting, Mr Taylor described the result as "a victory for common sense and decency".

Campaign for action in communities

A CAMPAIGN is championing community action – from picking up litter to formal volunteering residents across the county Community Action Suffolk have launched Grow Your Community, a campaign to stimulate local action and encourage people to get involved.

They are asking residents to let them know what it is they do to help their community, so that they can build a database of what is going on in different areas.

This will enable them to explore new initiatives and introduce people to voluntary groups in their area. The more people who get in touch, the more effective the database will be.

The campaign was launched at Community Action Suffolk's Grow Your Community conference on September 25.

Cllr Sarah Stamp said as part of her opening address: "We need to do everything we can to support the voluntary and community sector. A big thank you to all who work in the sector."

A chance to sort our High Street

AS David Cameron announced on Monday, towns with a mayor will be given the opportunity to set their own business tax

We have a post code for Cambridge, although our tax is paid to St Edmundsbury, but they are too high for our town centre to keep smaller businesses here in Haverhill.

Yet the charity shops that have taken over many high streets receive a whopping 80% discount.

Cameron said any town with a mayor can now reset this so I suggest we decrease these charity shops to higher business tax and lower the other stores to encourage smaller business to take up places in our High Street again and bring back shoppers from other towns, encouraging growth. sadly we lost many stores like Tony Strowgers jewellers and Morleys because of the high overheads. Come on Town Council: reorganise and save our High Street.

Security? What security?

YOUR article on page 4 of the Haverhill News (September 17th) reports right and far-right rhetoric from MP Mathew Hancock and Councilor Julian Flood, regarding Jeremy Corbyn's policies and "the threat they pose to the economic security of every family (in Britain)". How dare these people talk about security for families and people in Britain

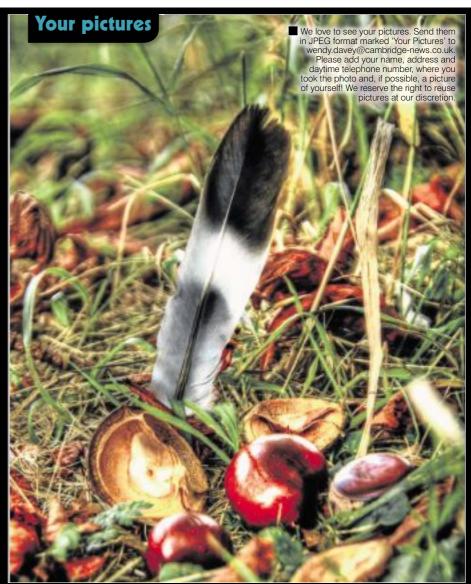

Where is the security now that the deficit has doubled from £800 billion to £1.5 trillion in the space of 5 years since the Tories came into power? Where is the security in renewing Trident, a £100 billion weapon of mass destruction, which can only be used in a nuclear exchange that would wipe out our country, while our armed forces are reduced to the point that they struggle to be effective in the face of a natural disaster or invasion?

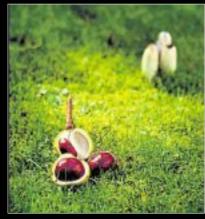

Where is the security for many who cannot afford to buy a house or afford the extortionate rents charged by private landlords because there are not enough council houses being built?

Where is the security for everyone in this constituency who now have to pay a further £50 p.a. just to get their brown bin emptied which should be paid for by their council tax, a policy that at best will discourage recycling and encourage fly tipping?

Where is the security for my family and others like us who are unable to get a doctors appointment when we need it because of the lack of GPs? Something that is just going to get worse now that permission has been given for another 2,500 houses in Haverhill.

Where is the security for my children when they leave university with a debt the size of a deposit now required to buy a house? And where is the security for my finances as my nurses' pay has been frozen for the 5th year running resulting in a decrease of living standards for my family? This is Tory economic non-security! Complete failure! And Mr Flood, you say Corbyn says foolish things and needs to grow up, implying that he is driven by ideological politics that will damage his party and our country I'd suggest that it is the Conservatives who are the ideologically driven party, seduced by the most abhorrent policies of the right wing of the USA which seeks to blame the poor for poverty, the disabled for disease, deny climate change and subsidise

This party has doubled debt, starved vital public services of funds, and presided over the slowest economic recovery in modern history. They are the ones hurting the security of the nation.

Church murals are a link to past memories

GLORIOUS murals depicting scenes from Haverhill's past have been unveiled in St Mary's churchyard.

The murals, unveiled on Tuesday, are part of a project Haverhill in Bloom has been working on in partnership with St Edmundsbury Borough Council, primary school pupils, Haverhill History Group, the local police, and the various property owners around the

More recent scenes are also included, such as the erection of the Spirit of Enterprise monument and the passing of the Olympic torch through the town.

Now, the council has vowed to push the work forward, hoping for the project to be completed before Christmas.

CAMPAIGN: Matthew Hancock

"We will be completing the design and construction programme over the next few weeks to ensure that there are no unforeseen issues on site that could affect the delivery and timing of the work."

Resident Ron Davies said he started the fight to bring a crossing to the Al307 outside Haverhill Sainsbury's in October 2012 after he saw two boys nearly get knocked down there. The supermarket is across the road from a busy bus stop where young people get off the bus from Cambridge.

Campaigners were told that work on installing the crossing would begin in October, and Mr Davies says he was told in April it would be built in September.

Mr Davies has raised safety concerns about the crossing not being delivered before winter sets in. He said: "It's going to be very, very dangerous. There's going to be no extra lights. The problem is people crossing at 4pm in the evening and it's already dark."

Mr Davies got in contact with West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock and he joined the campaign.

Horse riding for charity funds

THREE Counties Riding School will be holding a charity event on Sunday between 12pm and 2pm. Members of the public can enjoy cart trips and pony rides in aid of Aiden's Footsteps and the Lily Foundation.

The charities raise money for Lily Bamber, a local girl living with Mitochondrial Disease, and Aiden Thomas, who has Cerebral Palsy.

The Lily Foundation was set up to fund research to improve diagnosis of mitochondrial disease, and ultimately find a cure. Aiden's Footsteps helps raise money for young Aiden to get the support and treatment he needs. The event is open for all.

FANTASTIC REVIEWS: For Zafra owner Frank Tyler

Traditional five-star fare at gem of an Italian diner

NESTLED in the beautiful village of Finchingfield you'll find a quaint little Italian restaurant about to enter its ninth year in business and holding strong as firm local favourite thanks to its fabulous food and friendly atmosphere.

Owner Frank Tyler runs the restaurant which consistently attracts local regulars as well as those visiting thanks to fantastic five star ADVERTISING FEATURE online reviews. "We're very small," says Frank. "But we do traditional, homemade, Italian fare which people love."

Quirky and full of character, Zafra is renounced for its delicious, fresh Italian cuisine. Enjoy fresh caught seabass with crab ravioli or sumptuous grilled prawns.

Try the mackerel with beetroot and wasabi or even swordfish with homemade salsa. Zafra also has a great selection of freshly cooked pizza and that won't disappoint, particularly the gorgonzola and walnut ravioli. And if you have any room left, all the deserts are deliciously indulgent.

On a warm evening you can enjoy a glass of chilled wine in the charming outside seating area and head indoors for a cosy table during the colder months. Zafra is offering a two course Christmas menu for £20 or three courses for £25 so make sure you book a table for the festive season. This local Italian is a real hidden gem.

Visit Zafra, 5 The Green, Finchingfield CM7 4JS or call (01371) 810501 to book a table.

Centre Stage actors take their play to the streets

STREET SHOW: Young actors wow shoppers in Queen Street while promoting their new play, the Addams Family.

YOUNG actors took their stage-craft to the streets on Saturday with impromptu performances of scenes from their new play.

The Centre Stage theatre

The Centre Stage theatre company has had a bumper year and now, prior to their upcoming production of the Addams Family, they are looking for novel ways to promote themselves.

Tired of using posters and billboards, the group ventured out into Haverhill town centre on Saturday to perform a series of pop-up scenes in the town.

The cast, who are all under 23 years of age, were well received by weekend shoppers as they went about their business in Queen Street and the High Street.

Jim Morgan, chairman of the Centre Stage Company, said the street performances were a new way of attracting attention to the group's rising young stars.

He said: "We are trying to move away from the traditional posters and were looking for new ways to tell people about the show.

"We were looking at new ways to engage people, we have thousands of seats to fill and we want to get people interested in the group and what we do.

"It is a very 'in your face' idea and we hope it suits the way we want to present this youth production."

The Centre Stage company provides amateur dramatic opportunities for established actors and young people alike.

It relies wholly upon ticket sales for its revenue and has become a much loved part of Haverhill life.

Normally, the group raises money with sales from its Christmas pantomime, which then funds its activities throughout the rest of the year. This year, however, has been an unusually successful one for the group, with bumper ticket sales for its productions of Annie and the Vicar of Dibley boosting the group's sales.

The group has also won numerous awards and has been recognised for its contribution to the town.

Now, they are looking to use that success to engage more young people in the

"It is a vision I have held for many years," said Mr Morgan. "I believe it is the young who will drive us forward. It is one of those things we are keen to promote.

we are keen to promote.
"This [the Addams Family] is a youth production, even our stage manager is only 16-years-old. We have a brilliant group of young stars."

Haverhill's mayor, councillor Betty McLatchy, praised the group and said she would like to see more people taking to the streets in such a way.

"I think they are wonderful," she said. "I've often said, rather than splashing out for street entertainers at Christmas, we should let Centre Stage do it."

Centre Stage's production of the Addams Family will run from October 20 to October 24. Tickets are available from https://www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk/whatson/the-addams-family

COURT

Fraud trial set for Haverhill rector

THE trial of a Suffolk clergyman who is accused of fraud is to take place in early November.

Ian Finn, 55, who is the Rural Dean of Clare, has pleaded not guilty to an offence of fraud by abuse of position, alleged to have taken place over a sevenyear period while in charge at a church in Haverhill.

The charge relates to the alleged loss of £13,204 from fees paid for church services between June 1, 2007 and March 1, 2014 by false accounting. Rev Finn, an honorary canon at St Edmundsbury Cathedral and rector of St Mary the Virgin Church in Haverhill, lives in Honton Rise Haverhill

Hopton Rise, Haverhill. On Wednesday, at Ipswich Crown Court, Judge Rupert Overbury said the trial was expected to last seven days. COLIDT

Man jailed for abusing schoolgirl

A MAN from Haverhill who sexually abused a schoolgirl has been jailed for more than ten years.

David Gray, 52, of Ash Grove, had pleaded not guilty but in August was convicted by a jury at Ipswich Crown Court.

On Monday, Gray was brought back to court to be sentenced by Judge Martyn Levett who had presided over his trial.

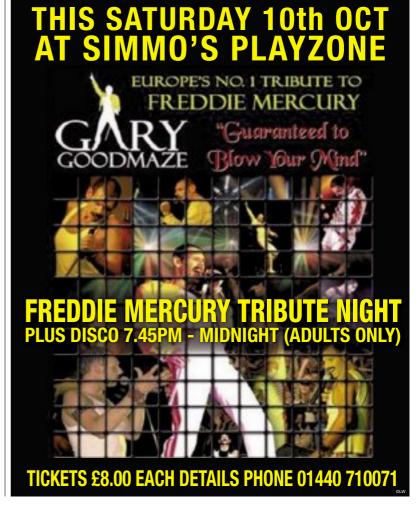

The prosecution had alleged that Gray had repeatedly sexually assaulted a 14-year-old girl over a period of more than a two years and told her not to tell anyone about what he was doing as it was "their secret."

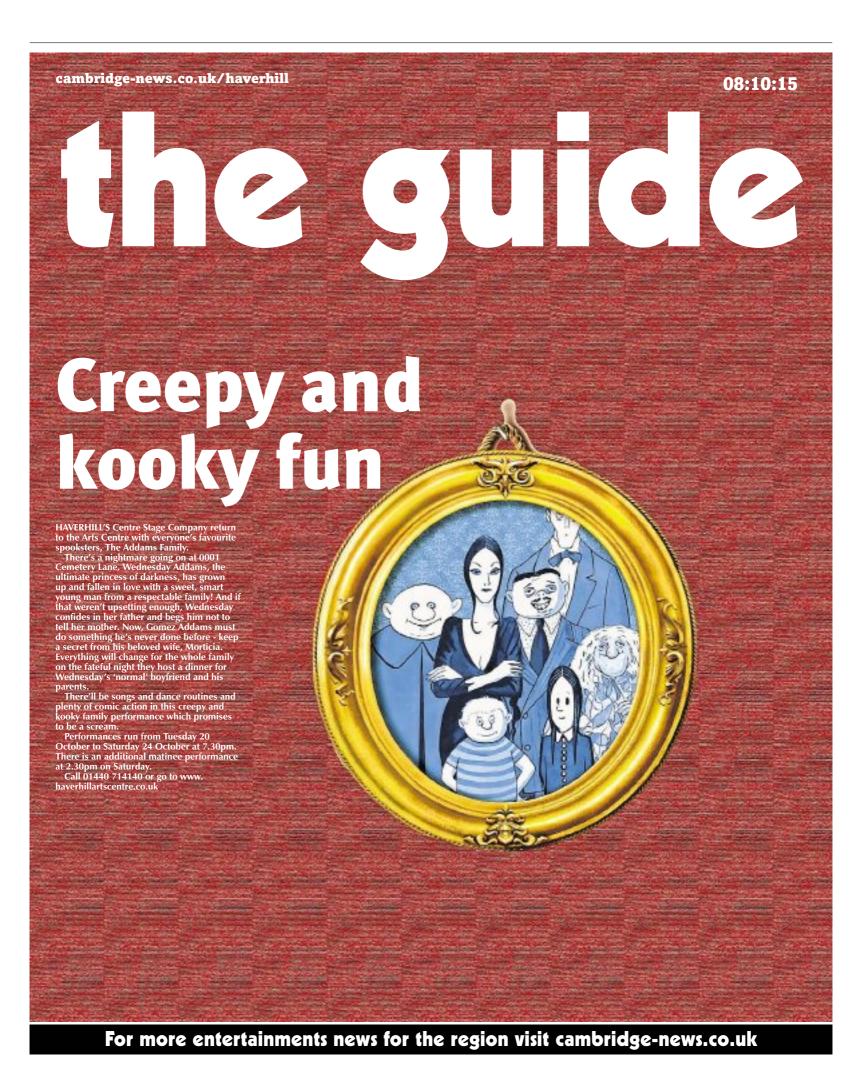

Prosecuting, Isobel Ascherson said the mother of the girl had gone to the police after discovering social media messages from Gray.

Giving evidence, Gray told the jury that the only physical contact he had with the girl had been a "friendly hug" and claimed that the allegations against him were lies.

Gray was found guilty of two offences of assault by penetration and one of sexual activity with a child.

Jailing him for ten years and six months, Judge Levett ordered Gray to sign on the sexual offences register indefinitely and made a restraining order banning Gray from contacting his victim.

Coasts play The Junction in Cambridge

UP-AND-coming Bristol indie band Coasts play The Junction this week. We caught up with lead singer Liam Willford ahead of their visit to hear his thoughts on UK versus US festivals, Radio 1 and having big ambitions.

Liam on... rehearsing in a church crypt

The truth is that it was the cheapest place we could possibly rehearse. We were just starting out the band and everything costs a lot of money. We managed to get a deal - cheaper than cheap! It was insanely echoey but not too s poky.

.. building up a strong fanbase

The first year you literally go all around the country - it's called the 'toilet circuit'- everyone does it. The first time you play to four people and you feel like it's all a waste of time. And then the next time you go it's 25 people, and then then next time it's 50 people and the next time it's 100. It really does work, if you put on a good show. That's my advice to bands: do it the hard way, do it the long way. ...making the Radio 1 playlist

We just got on the B list for Radio 1, which is a really big deal: it's really hard to get on, much harder than I ever expected. But that really means that now we can go and play live and it feels like there's momentum building through that. If you're on the radio a lot and gigging a lot, people can really start to discover you properly on a large scale.

... the band's exciting year so far

We played Glastonbury, on the John Peel stage, which was absolutely amazing, and we played Coachella in California. It's nowhere near as good as Glastonbury but it is the American version. Much more fashionable and much less muddy!

New in-car laws on smoking and consumer rights of motoring-related legislation which came into force yesterday.

The first is that it is now an offence to smoke in a vehicle with anyone under 18 present.

The second is that the new Consumer Rights Act replaces the Sales of Good Act

My Car Check, the consumer vehicle data provider, has commented on the implications of the new laws for the trade.

Justin Powell, manager of My Car Check's Glasgow call centre, said: "Most people agree that smoking with kids in the car is no longer socially acceptable. This new law makes it an offence to smoke in a vehicle with anyone under 18 present. The penalty is a £50 fine for both the driver and the smoker. The other thing to bear in mind about incar smoking is the detrimental affect on the car's saleability – ash marks, burns or cigarétte odour will turn off many buyers and can easily knock 10% off the resale value.

Of the new law on consumer rights Powell, said: "The new Consumer Rights Act replaces the Sale of Goods Act. The most important implications for consumers buying from a bona fide motor trader are firstly, a period of 30 days in which to return faulty goods and obtain a full refund, and secondly a right to one repair within the initial six months.

DOING RIGHT BY YOU: The aim of the new Consumer Rights Act is to 'bring consumer law up to date'

"These are very welcome consumer entitlements, but there's a big problem: the vast majority of unscrupulous behaviour concerns vehicles offered privately, not by dealers. Establishing the identity of the seller is absolutely crucial. Check the V5C logbook. If you are buying from a private seller it will be a civil agreement between two parties, ie it would not covered by the Consumer Rights Act. Professional car dealers are heavily regulated and generally provide a great service."

The new Consumer Rights

Act is the biggest shake-up of consumer law in a generation, with a mission to strengthen, clarify and modernise protection for shoppers.

Buyers are guaranteed a full refund up to 30 days after buying a faulty item: the Act provides protection for digital purchases for the first time and cracks down on unfair terms in contracts.

Shoppers now have 30 days to reject a faulty item and demand a full refund. clarifying previously unclear rules on how long this period should last.

After 30 days, retailers have one opportunity to repair or replace a faulty item, at the customer's choosing.

If the attempt at a repair or replacement is unsuccessful, the consumer can then claim a refund or a price reduction if they want to keep the product.

The new act also extends clear legal rights to digital purchases, giving consumers the right to a repair or replacement for faulty downloaded or streamed content such as apps, music, movies, games or e-books. Citizens Advice chief executive Gillian Guv said: "Clear consumer rights are good for shoppers and husinesses

Pick-up award for Isuzu D-Max

FOR the second year running, the Isuzu D-Max has won the 'Pick-Up Truck of the Year' prize at the Commercial Fleet Awards. The triumph was announced at the ceremony held last Thursday at The International Centre in Telford.

Stephen Briers, commercial fleet editor, commented: "Isuzu specialises in pick-ups with a network that understands the needs of fleets. The judges praised the D-Max's five-year warranty, level of safety equipment and 3.5-tonne towing limit, and said that it is very competitive from a total cost of ownership perspective. As well as being a rugged performer and very capable off-road, the D-Max is equally at home on-road and delivers a comfortable, impressive driving experience."

The prestigious annual Commercial Fleet Awards jury is made up of the Fleet News editorial team and experts from across the industry.

The Isuzu D-Max is available in three body styles – single, extended and double cab with prices starting from £14,999 (CVOTR) for the entry-level single cab 4x2 rising to

RUGGED PERFORMER: The Isuzu D-Max

£25,999 (CVOTR) for the range-topping Isuzu Blade. The Isuzu D-Max is fitted with a super-efficient 2.5-litre twin-turbo diesel engine, producing 163PS and 400 Nm of torque, is able to tow a class-leading 3.5-tonnes (braked) while still returning fuel economy of 38.7mpg (combined).

Merritt named as Haverhill matchplay champ

LIAM Merritt was awarded the prize for Haverhill's summer matchplay competition, the Signpost Paints Cup. Merritt, who beat last year's finalist Jack Bligh in the semi-finals, was named winner as the other semifinalists could not arrange their match by the set deadline.

As a result, Merritt's 5&3 win over Bligh was used to decided the victor of this year's competition.

"The match (against Bligh) was very competitive," said Merritt. "It was tight on the front nine with birdies on most holes between us, then I seized the advantage at the start of the back nine and putted well.

"It was a great match against Jack and I enjoyed it very much."

John Kennedy, Joe Davis, Ann Thompson and Doug Renyard took victory in the Jan Bowers Memorial Golf Day, which raised £1,400 for St Nicholas Hospice.

The day was organised by past Haverhill captain Peter Bowers in memory of his late wife and comprised a Texas scramble played off one-tenth combined handicaps. Kennedy, Davis

Thompson and Renyard won with 52.4 points, while Bob Spittle, Neil Franklin, Mary Sail and Jack Warwick took second on countback from Andy Fish, Dale Mizon, Lyn Fish and teams scored 54.1. Ipswich's Fiona Edmond won the Suffolk Ladies County Golf Association Division One meeting at her beat clubmates Abbie Symonds (76), with Sarah Saggers' nett 74 in the handicap seeing Ipswich clinch the Inter-Club Challenge Shield.

Top accolade for McGivern

GEORGINA McGivern earned her second dan black belt following a recent surprise grading.
The Haverhill Wado Freestyle

Karate Club member and instructor (pictured below) had to deliver perfect techniques in punches, strikes, kicks, kata and breaking wood, she also had to deal with being attacked by 12 people using knives, batons and various other weapons.

McGivern's grading then finished with the club's traditional rounds of full contact sparring, 11 in all and what made this grading particularly demanding was that she had no prior warning of the grading.

Where Georgina excels is in her ability to deliver not only first-class karate coaching, but also everyday self-defence, including knife defence," said head coach Greg

The club is proud and honoured to have Georgina as part of our coaching team."

Hockey

Thomas on target as seconds prevail

HAVERHILL II maintained their 100 per cent record in East Women's League, Division 4NW(S) with a 2-0 win over Huntingdon.

Kim Thomas and Cara Ainsworth provided the goals.

But Tina Bunch's effort was not enough as the first team went down 3-1 at March in 3NW.

Borough back on form with victory

TWO goals in each half saw Haverhill Borough collect three points against a struggling Cor-nard United side in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division last Saturday.

The home side were in the ascendancy from the off, as Matt Staines' free kick narrowly avoided Bart Pater at the far post.

The visitors' makeshift goalkeeper Dave Dowding then made a great save to divert Ryan Swallow's effort past the post with just six minutes on the clock.

Staines then found himself up against Dowding, but was under pressure from the opposition defence.

Borough took the lead after a sublime piece of skill from centreback Cameron Watson, who picked up a loose ball from a corner, juggled it twice and then smashed it into the top left hand corner on

Their lead was doubled in added time at the end of the first half, as a searching diagonal ball from Jon Milne was picked up by Staines.

His cross was knocked on by Swallow to the feet of player-man-ager Martin Westcott, who twist-ed and then converted into the bottom corner.

The lead was extended to 3-0 just after the hour mark, as Swallow picked up a cut-back on the right hand side and smashed the ball past Dowding.

Borough's fourth came when a searching ball from Pater found Westcott, who picked out Harry Halls on the right hand side for him to finish.

Borough now travel to Stowmar-ket in the First Division this Satur-

Meanwhile, Haverhill Rovers return to action after a week off when they welcome Stanway to the New Croft.
